STUDIO CLIK: EFFECTIVE BY DESIGN

We believe that the key to successful communication is to understand your audience, and that most businesses have a pretty good idea who their customers are. That's why the first thing we do when we start on a new project is to listen, and to do our research. Only then will we start to look at how best to get your message across effectively.

Our goal is to produce materials that get results. And for over a decade now that's what we've been doing, from magazines to brochures to advertising campaigns to websites.

Our friendly team of creative, dedicated and motivated designers, writers and photographers will simply do whatever is needed to produce effective - and cost-effective - solutions, no matter how large, or small the project.

We have extensive experience in book production, from initial concepts to editorial content to complete 'full service' production of one-off and regular publications. We also work with publishers in promotions and marketing, including product photography, sales/marketing/advertising materials and web sites.

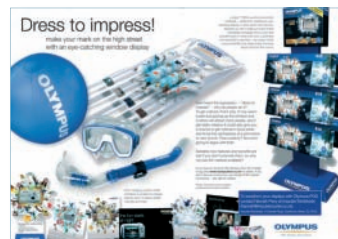

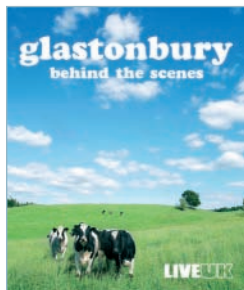

Clients past and present have included Mitchell Beazley, David & Charles, Ilex, Rotovision and Kraken Sport & Media.

We have been producing magazines for commercial and publishing clients since 1996, and with a staff including editorial, design, production and marketing experts we can offer a one-stop service for the production of one-off or regular publications. We have extensive experience in both consumer, customer and trade titles.

Clients past and present have included IPC Media, Park View Publishing, Link House Magazines and Archant Specialist.

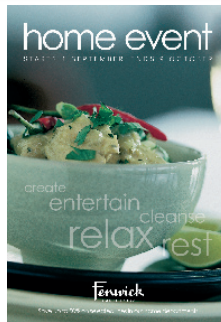

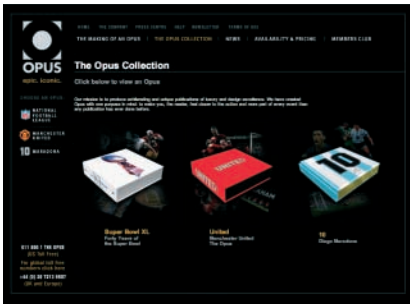

MAGAZINES

We believe in making every client's life as easy as possible, and our complete service for brochures includes research, planning, design, photography, copy writing/editorial, print and distribution. Click produces visually stunning, carefully targeted and cost-effective brochures and customer magazines for direct mail or insertion into print media.

Clients past and present have included Fenwick, Alders, Sony, Fuji Photo Film, Jacobs, Photo Optix, Fotolynx, Lexar Media and many others.

Clik's unique pool of editorial resources means we cannot only offer web design and planning, but content too. Recent work has included the design, content and production of www.krakenopus.com, a high profile sports publishing venture. We also provide editorial content for several large consumer and business sites.

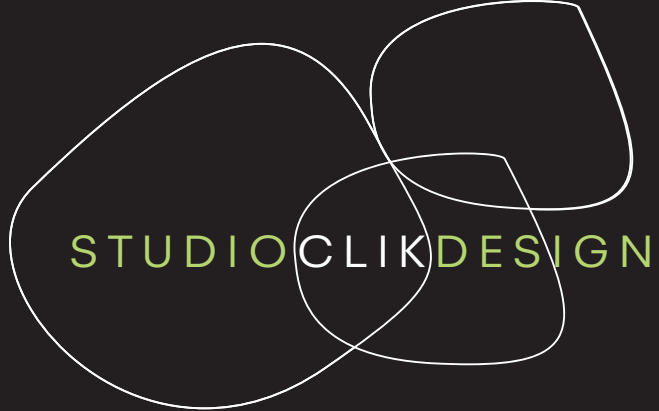

Using our in-house facilities and extensive network of partner studios and photographers we offer a high quality art direction/photography/post-production service. From simple pack shots to studio and location lifestyle photography we'll help you to ensure your products and services are shown in the perfect light.
